DRAWINGS:

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

3. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Marisetty et al (6,22,260).

As per claim 6, Marisetty et al disclose a test system having a system bus and capable of efficiently recovering from a system error, comprising:

A first local nonvolatile memory in a first test entity for storing error information generated in the first entity; and

A processor programmed for executing a recovery sequence upon detection of the system error to re-initialize the system bus without a need to first read out the error information from the first local nonvolatile memory. (See col. 1, lines 44-48, col. 2, lines 38-43, col. 3, lines 21-35, col. 5, lines 15-67 to col. 6, lines 1-3).

As per claims 7-8, Marisetty et al further disclose:

A second local nonvolatile memory in a receiving entity for storing commands or data to be received;

Wherein the processor is further programmed for executing a recovery sequence upon detection of the system error to re-initialize the system bus without a need to regenerate or re-transmit the commands or data stored in the first or second local nonvolatile memory at the time of the system error. (See col. 1, lines 44-48, col. 5, lines 15-67 to col. 6, lines 1-3 and col. 7, lines 10-12).

As per claims 1-2 and 3-5, these method claims are rejected under similar rationale as set forth in the system claims 6-8.
